TRAVEL NOTES

Since becoming involved with Friends of the Carmel Valley Library, I've made it a habit to visit libraries in other small communities. There are some beauties out there that reflect the strength and community spirit of America's small towns.

In Sitka, Alaska, comfortable chairs and useful desks look over the bay to snowcapped mountains. In Homer, Alaska, tree trunks stand in the children's room and marine-themed alphabet paintings line the walls.

Part of a good vacation is the joy of returning home. At our Carmel Valley Library, the garden and building are lovely and the adobe walls embody the history of our community. The staff is as friendly and the books and programs are as interesting as anywhere I've visited—all reflecting a community that cares deeply about its library.

I hope some of the tourists who make their way to our village stop to enjoy the old Buckeye building and our library. Thank you for supporting a library we can be proud of.

-Cynthia Hertlein, President, FOCVL

BIG BOOK SALE

The Friends are holding a book sale on the porch of the Carmel Valley Historical Society Museum during FIESTA celebrations, August 3 & 4. Book donations will be welcomed—but not quite yet. Because we have no secure place to store books, we are asking patrons to bring their gently used books to the library during open hours from July 16 until August 1.

Books in poor condition don't sell, nor do obsolete text books; please recycle them.

Volunteers needed to help set up on Friday August 2, to work the sale on Saturday & Sunday, and to help take down on Sunday. If you can help, send an email to info@focvl.org. (This is a great way for teens to earn community service credit and for all to give back to the community.)

SUMMER FUN AT THE LIBRARY

The Summer Reading Program is in full swing. In addition to prizes for reading, the library will host special events on Wednesdays, Fridays & Saturdays throughout June & July including pythons, science experiments, musical robots, game days and dances. For the full schedule, stop by the library or visit FOCVL.org to see what's "In the Library".

APOLLO 11 50th ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION, SATURDAY JULY 20, 10:30AM – 4:00 PM

Library staff, with support from the Friends of Carmel Valley Library and the Monterey County Free Libraries Foundation, are putting on a day of Family Fun to celebrate the first manned lunar landing. Activities will include Story Time from Space, a classic lunar lander game, coloring and activity pages for kids, a special historical gallery with images and models, an outer space selfie-station, a special NASA themed Makerspace Fair with six stations, historical videos, outer space trivia games for kids, teens, and adults, music, dancing, and more. At 12:30, the Friends will help unveil a special gift to the library.

Come join the fun and share your memories of that momentous "Leap for Mankind".
